The BC Co-operative Association's Co-ops 101 Workshop is a great introduction to the co-op model. The facilitated workshop covers all the basics including the history of the co-operative model, the various types of co-op structures, and why co-operation matters in today's context. The workshop also explains what makes the co-op model unique and how it differs from a company and society's structures. Come ready to learn, share, and ask questions!
